READ TOGETHER

Philippians 2:2

1. Why is it so hard to agree with some people?
2. How can you love others regardless of whether you agree with them or not?

LIVE IT

Sometimes we disagree. Walking through disagreements with other people, especially those we love, can be difficult. Having opinions is fine, but many people treat others poorly when they disagree.

God wants the Church, His people, to live in peace with each other. Living in harmony doesn't mean having one view, but we can treat each other respectfully when we disagree. We don't always know what people have been through, so we can take opportunities to listen to people's stories and understand why they think the way they do. Of course, we can still disagree after hearing their stories, but this way, people know they can come to us and feel heard.

As Christians, God wants us to make a difference in the world. He wants us to show love to people who feel unloved, accept those who feel unaccepted, and find people who feel lost. The more we do this, the more God can use the Church to heal this world and us.

LEAN ON GOD

Dear God,

Please help us. We've had many challenges lately, and we need to experience Your love, Your comfort and Your acceptance. Please heal us, and change us so we can hear Your voice and do what's right.

Amen.
